

I am writing regarding the LPFM stations that could take over FM translator frequencies. I am a regular listener to KLOVE and AIR1 broadcasts over a national network of FM translators. These stations meet a significant local need where funding is not available to support a local station, but collective funding nationally is able to support a network of translators to provide local radio service. My area has only two radio stations with this style of music and news, and both of them are on FM translators. Please do not let LPFM stations displace the two radio stations that I listen to 95% of the time. Thank you. Respectfully, Mr. Ashley McGlone.
